Week 1 Takeaways

Tracking under center usage across the league.

- One topic we discussed in the lead up to the season was the potential for teams move to increase their under center usage. Offenses want to do this to hopefully get more advantageous looks to create explosive plays against heavier defenses.
- The below data excludes Sunday Night Football, spikes, and kneels and only includes Week 1 of each season. The size of the jump in overall usage is notable.

| Season | UC Plays | UC % | % of DB UC | UC EPA/Play | UC EPA/DB | UC EPA/Rush | EPA/Non-UC Play |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2022 | 626 | 30.9% | 17.1% | -0.061 | -0.005 | -0.092 | -0.040 |
| 2023 | 537 | 26.7% | 13.2% | -0.137 | 0.032 | -0.211 | -0.145 |
| 2024 | 555 | 29.1% | 14.1% | -0.072 | -0.113 | -0.056 | -0.064 |
| 2025 | 557 | 29.2% | 14.6% | -0.019 | 0.103 | -0.073 | 0.005 |
| 2026 | 706 | 42.0% | 32.2% | 0.017 | 0.149 | -0.048 | -0.043 |

- The teams with the biggest change from total under center percentage last season to their Week 1 under center usage were the Raiders (+29 percentage points), Jets (+27.5), Ravens (+20.0), and Jaguars (+19.3).
- One thing we did notice, though, was defenses using something specific to attack under center looks. We would love to see defenses continue to send interior linebacker pressure to challenge offenses in pass protection when they go under center.

Buffalo Bills 36, Houston Texans 31: Josh Allen starts off flaming hot.

- The Buffalo Bills put up the 3rd best offensive performance by EPA/play against the Houston Texans since DeMeco Ryans took over as head coach.
- Josh Allen had a 96th percentile EPA/dropback and was 7/8 for 131 yards on intermediate throws. He found Dalton Kincaid often as Kincaid caught five of his six targets for 130 yards.
- Reed Blankenship gave up seven catches on seven plays where he was the nearest coverage defender while also producing a 0.2 percentile yards allowed per coverage snap. Kamari Lassiter let up five catches on seven targets for 105 yards, and Derek Stingley Jr. allowed four catches on six targets for 68 yards.

- In Declan Doyle's first game calling plays for Lamar Jackson, Jackson had the highest under center percentage of any game of his career.
- Doyle was creative with his playcalling including using Zay Flowers in the backfield on a big play. Flowers dominated in the first half and put up 150 yards before leaving with an injury in the second quarter.

San Francisco 49ers 27, Los Angeles Rams 7: Kyle Shanahan put together another masterpiece.

- The 49ers had a fantastic plan for Myles Garrett including quick throws, chips, screens, and high-level tackle play. Every player was up for the task including Brock Purdy whose consistent drops in the pocket helped the tackles push rushers beyond him.

- Shanahan also continued to build off his unique motion usage with Kyle Juszczyk. Just in case you were wondering, all signs point to it being a decidedly legal motion.

Philadelphia Eagles 24, Washington Commanders 22: The Eagles escape with a win, but some issues linger.

- The Philadelphia Eagles put together a win in Week 1 that included Jalen Hurts hitting two middle of the field throws, scrambling well, and throwing an under center play action beauty to Dontayvion Wicks down the field.
- The Eagles had issues on the interior of their offensive line, and Saquon Barkley had a 2nd percentile yards before contact. He had a low yards before contact last season, and the offensive line will need to pull things together to elevate this run game.
- The Commanders defense used a five man pass rush on 12 dropbacks to generate a 66.7% pressure rate, three sacks, and -0.60 EPA/dropback allowed. They stuffed the Eagles inside runs and played well from base personnel.
